It's Time To Play!

Children learn best through hands on play, exploration, and discovery. Guess what? So do adults. That's why Jeff A. Johnson has designed this day long early learning Make-And-Take training for child care providers, foster parents, teachers, and parents. During the six hours of training you will play with and make items featured in Jeff's Redleaf Press books, Do-It-Yourself Early Learning and Everyday Early Learning. You'll leave this event with lots of new ideas and some great learning toys to share with the children in your life. Jeff has over 20 years experience in family and center based care programs and is an internationally known early learning author and speaker.
